

Good morning,

An Interpreter not only translates one person's words, but also translates the ideas, business strategies, etc. Thus, an interpreter should not only master the particular language but he should also be very clear with the concept or subject matter of the topic in order to make sensible translations.

An Interpreter needs to be very attentive, and should understand minute details of everything that they are asked to interpret, because they have to understand and translate everything in spoken communication, which otherwise would be very confusing.

Interpreters of “Stannum Page” Translation Bureau are intelligent and motivated. They exemplify their professionalism by being capable, hardworking and prompt. Part of their experience includes technical translation. They not only accept constructive criticism but integrate the feedback into their everyday work. Notable skills of “Stannum Page” interpreters lie with their ability to clarify concepts and communicate clearly with the client. Most notably, I have been immensely impressed with “Stannum Page” interpreters` integrity while under my supervision and would absolutely recommend this company for employment.
